HISTORY OF ESSENTIAL OILS

Our ancestors used oils in ceremony and ritual hundreds and even thousands of years ago. In the past, oils were created by placing oil or fat over a heat source, and then adding fragrant herbs and flowers to the oil.

Aromatic plants in the form of oil and incense were elements of religious and therapeutic practices in early cultures worldwide. In addition, anointment with perfumes and fragrant oils was an almost universal practice.

Many companies today offer synthetic oils at a fraction of the cost of essential oils. However, for magical purposes it's best to use authentic essential oils—these contain the magical properties of the plant, which synthetic oils do not have.
